Before we get to Olivia, take a look at this hat.
It’s been there a while, going by the size of it.

A huff hat starts with a little buzz above your ears.

Give it time and it can come right down to your nose.

It can even turn you green.
You'd think you'd notice.

You're generally too busy being in a huff.

Olivia had been thirteen for eleven days.
That Saturday morning, she woke up out of sorts.

She slid the hangers along the rail, one by one.
‘Nothing to wear,’ she said.
She put on yesterday’s jumper and tugged
the sleeves down over her knuckles.
